ELECTRICITY TO MOVE ALL STATE CARS

Steam Lines in California to Be Electrified, According to Negotiations Made With P. G. & E. Company

Enormous Power Developed That Extends All the Way From Oregon to Mexico; Significance Told by Creed

Electric railways throughout California—that is to be the nearest miracle.

Revealing the fact that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has entered into negotiations with a certain railroad in California for the electrification of its steam lines, Wigginton E. Creed, president of the power concern, today admitted that the $100,000,000 Pitt river project is designed to supply electric power to supplant the Moguls and Malloys.

"We told the directors of the railroad that we could supply them with enough electric power to operate their present steam lines within a year," said Creed. "This is long before they will be ready for it themselves."

NEGOTIATIONS STILL IN TENTATIVE STAGES.

"Since the negotiations are still in the tentative stages, I will not disclose the name of the railroad that desires to emulate the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, which now has electric trains operating over 900 miles of track."

Creed's statement came at the close of the river excursion, which transferred seventy-five editors of California daily papers to the scenic activities in the Cascade mountains.

The plan to electrify all of the steam lines in this state involves one of the most gigantic physical projects ever attempted. Actual connections of the lines of the various companies, which has now been effected, will give a continuous stream of power from Springfield, Oregon, throughout the length of the state to Yuma, Arizona, and to the Mexican line, but it does not mean that the management have consolidated, either from a financial or administrative standpoint.

ELECTRIFICATION IN 10 YEARS PREDICTED.

"Every steam line in California will be electrified within ten years, according to our calculations," declared Creed. "In constructing the Pitt river project at the cost of $100,000,000 to meet the increased demand for hydro electric power, we have taken into consideration this fact."

"When the seven Pitt plants are completed we will be in a position to deliver a constant pressure of 1,000,000 volts on our lines."

"On the north we are tied in with the Northwestern Electric company and the California-Oregon Power, on the south our line is attached to those of the San Joaquin Light and Power, while still farther south we have physical contact with the Southern California Edison and the Southern Sierras concerns."

According to J. P. Jollyman, chief electrical engineer of the power company, this gigantic physical project means that all the companies can pool their voltage to run hundreds of passenger and freight trains across California at an unheard of speed and economy.

EXPENSE LARGE IN HARNESSING PIT RIVER.

The work of harnessing the Pitt river to secure 600,000 hydro-electric horsepower and to form the connecting link which will make the operation of electric trains possible, has developed into a great battle with nature in one of the most inaccessible parts of California. It involved the building of a railroad 35 miles long, costing $600,000, through snow-capped mountains; the erection of a town costing $200,000, which now houses 2000 people; the driving of a two-mile tunnel (now completed) at an expense of $1,750,000, and of a seven-mile tunnel which will tap 200,000 horsepower of energy and the expenditure of additional millions on sub-stations, trunk lines and power houses.

SACRAMENTO-RENO LINE MAY BE FIRST.

"That the Southern Pacific will electrify its Sacramento to Reno line first, when it takes up this improvement, was the contention of Jollyman, who says that it is on the steep grade and hard pulls that the electric locomotive makes the biggest savings."

While nothing has been done by the Southern Pacific looking toward electrification in California, the power company is figuring on this as an eventuality and is prepared to supply "juice" on short notice, since its 100,000 volt line parallels the track to the No. 1000 for divorcees.

De Valera Shot As Troops Storm Last Stronghold

Commander of Irish Rebels Reported Wounded; 20 Insurgents Surrender.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DUBLIN, July 4, 2:30 p. m.—Eamonn de Valera was wounded by Free State shellfire today, according to a report from the last rebel stronghold near the Hammam hotel, which was in flames this afternoon.

An official statement from General O'Duffy, commanding government troops, announced that the extremist revolt has been broken and that Free State troops will clear the few remaining insurgent positions before nightfall.

Twenty insurgents marched out of the Hammam hotel under a white flag. They surrendered to the Free State commanders. A fierce attack was launched against those who still held out, armored cars pushing close against the burning hotels, from which a feeble rebel fire still came at intervals.

By GEORGE Mac DONAGH, United Press Staff Correspondent. (Passed by the Military Censor.)

DUBLIN, July 4. — The backbone of rebel resistance broke today before final assaults of Free State troops.

Insurgent strongholds along Sackville street were in flames. Rebel bands were escaping from shell shattered buildings to flee to the open country.

Ireland's civil war, which has raged unabated since last Wednesday, threatened today to develop into guerrilla warfare.

A terrific bombardment raked rebel positions during the night. The sky was bright with repeated flashes of heavy guns. Then a great red glare spread over the city from numerous fires in the hotels held by the last stubborn band, led, it was said, by de Valera.

COLLINS SEEKS TO SPARE VANQUISHED.

There was quiet for a while this morning, with only occasional rifle shots from snipers' posts breaking an ominous stillness. Michael Collins hoped the extremists would agree to surrender without necessity for further bloodshed. Free State troops were ready to go in the enemy nests and get the last man, but the government was making every effort to avoid a finish fight, now that the victory was won.

Rebels were reported joining armed bands in the outlying districts to continue the fight.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

DUBLIN, July 4 (9 a. m.)—The Gresham hotel, headquarters of Eamonn de Valera, commander-in-chief of the republican troops, was surrounded today and was under heavy fire. It fell was expected hourly.

Irregulars have burned the post-office and the barracks at Sligo. Violent fighting is reported in progress there and the casualties are believed to be heavy. Hundreds of refugees are fleeing from the Sligo battlezone toward Enniskillen. Railroad lines have been torn up throughout the Irish Free State, and traffic is at a standstill in all parts of the country.

Suspect Shot in N. Y. Subway Crowd

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, July 4. — Thousands of holiday seekers jammed into a Broadway subway station were thrown into a panic today when an alleged crook was shot by a pursuing detective.

Max Cohen, alias John Arnold, evaded Detective Patton when the officer sought to arrest him. He raced down a crowded street, pursued by a small group of pedestrians who were bound for the subway.

As Cohen entered the subway, Patton gained a good view and fired. The bullet struck the fleeing man in the head and his body rolled down the stairs.

S. F. Racqueter Gives Suzanne Hard Game

WIMBLEDON, July 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen defeated Elizabeth Ryan of San Francisco in the women's singles of the grass court tennis championships this afternoon, after a hard struggle in the second set, by the score of 6-1, 8-6.

T. O. Anderson, the Australian Davis Cup player, won his way into the semi-finals of the men's singles by defeating his teammate, Pat O'Hara Wood, in a hard-fought match—6-4, 8-2, 2-6, 2-6, 6-4.

Street Car Strike Looms in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 4 (By International News Service).—Chicago today faced the possibility of a great street car strike.

Unless the surface lines agree to a renewal of last year's agreement, embodying the same wage and working conditions, a strike vote will be taken, it was said.

UPKEEP MEN SEEK WAY TO AVOID STRIKE

Leaders of 250,000 in Maintenance of Way Department Enter Into Conference With Labor Board

Rehearing of Wage Reduction Order by Board Expected as Result of Willingness of Men to Meet

CHICAGO, July 4.—An eleven-hour effort to avert the strike of 250,000 maintenance of way employees will be made here at 10 a. m. today.

President E. F. Grable and other leaders of the maintenance of way organization will go into secret session with members of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Grable said he was hopeful an agreement would be reached which would justify him in refusing to issue a strike order. It is understood that the orders for a walk-out are written and signed in the Detroit office of the organization. They will be held pending the outcome of the conference.

OFFER TO RE-HEAR EXPECTED OF BOARD.

The maintenance men voted to strike on the cut in wages effective July 1. It is believed that the labor board will offer a rehearing of the wage reduction order if maintenance leaders agree to call off the strike.

The invitation to the conference was extended over long distance telephone to Grable at Detroit last night. He left immediately for Chicago. Chairman E. W. Hooper and Labor Board member Walter L. McMenimen will represent the board at the hearing.

FEW DEVELOPMENTS IN GENERAL STRIKE.

In the meantime there were few developments in the strike of 400,000 shopmen workers. Freight traffic in some parts of the country was delayed. Passenger trains moved without trouble.

Scattered reports indicated the stationary engineers and firemen were joining the shop workers. Union officials estimated that approximately 25,000 workers in other organizations had joined the shop crafts walkout without authorization from their respective unions.

HYDE REFUSES TO CALL OUT TROOPS.

Governor Arthur M. Hyde of Missouri last night refused to call out the National Guard for strike duty. A committee of 100 Kansas City businessmen urged the governor to take this action on the grounds that an emergency exists and the troops would prevent possible destruction of property.

A score of Chicago laborers, sent to Perry, Ia., to take the places of striking shop workers, were driven out of town after their coach had been stoned.

1800 Shopmen Line Up With Strikers

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Eighteen hundred Sacramento striking shopmen are aligned with the striking forces according to local officials of the shopcrafts unions who conducted a count of the men at a mass meeting in the city plaza yesterday afternoon. According to William Mero, president of the Federated Shopcrafts, this is the first actual count of the walk-out Saturday morning. Others, he said, now out of town on vacations, will be added to the list.

The men renewed their pledge to their leaders during today's meeting, declaring they would pay no heed to the statement of J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific, urging their return to work.

Man Surrenders After Raid on Home

By LAURENCE M. BENEDEICT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—A compromise settlement between the leaders of the 600,000 striking coal miners and the operators is in sight, high administration officials believed today.

Both factions are showing a disposition to give in to some extent from their original demands, one official stated. The operators have taken the initiative and it is understood they are preparing proposals for presentation to the next of the conferences Monday. They were driven to this step by the fear of federal control of the mines in conformity with the President's stern warning that production must be resumed.

Heroes of Three Wars Are in Line of March of Big Parade, Feature of Day's Observance in Oakland

Athletic Contests, Program in Park Constitute Entertainment in Afternoon; Fireworks This Evening

The nation's colors fluttered from thousands of buildings and towers today as Oakland celebrated the one hundredth and forty-sixth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the birth of the United States of America.

Boom! A five-pound bomb of TNT, whose detonation echoed and re-echoed throughout the streets of the city and over the hills at the north and east, was exploded over Lake Merritt at the sunrise hour and officially announced the beginning of the day's activities. A lengthy and varied program of sports, patriotic exercises and of reverence to the men killed in action in the country's wars, comprised today's celebration.

It was a safe and sane Fourth, minus the usual jar of explosives, but an impressive one.

PARADE IS LED BY MAYOR AND DREW.

The feature of the celebration this morning was the parade. Many patriotic and fraternal organizations participated in making it a fitting tribute to the anniversary of the nation's birth.

Led by Mayor John L. Davis, Chief of Police James Drew, city commissioners and county officials, the parade started at 10:30 o'clock at the foot of Broadway. It proceeded up Broadway to Thirteenth street, thence west on Thirteenth street to Harrison street. Thence the line of march led through the principal business streets.

Gray-haired veterans of the Civil War marched with faltering step beside the younger veterans of the Spanish-American war and the late world conflict. Many of the boys of '61 were unable to wait throughout the long parade, and they were carried in decorated automobiles and floats.

The various units of the 159th Infantry, National Guard, led by Colonel David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, formed in the line of march immediately behind the automobiles carrying the city and county officials. Colonel Barrows was mounted upon a huge black horse. His staff of officers were also mounted. They followed the machine gun companies and the National Guard companies.

Shurtleff, associate justice of the California Supreme Court, orator of the day at the Veterans' Home celebration of the nation's birthday.

"Such care and provision is not in any sense a charity, and it is unpatriotic so to regard it," he said. "Concerning the efforts of the government to provide that aid, Judge Shurtleff said: 'The hearts of the people are right upon the question, and the outcome is certain to be satisfactory and speedy.'"

Dublin Buildings Wrecked in Battle

Four Courts buildings, looking down the Liffey river from Bridge street, Dublin, which the Free State troops besieged and captured from rebels. Not only are the buildings badly wrecked but many outsiders who came within the firing zone were killed and wounded. During day-break the Collins army under the leadership of Richard Mulcahy, chief of staff and for a long time a comrade of O'Connor, opened fire on the Four Courts building. Terrific fire was returned by the rebels, who had every advantage of cover, but the latest casualty reports show that the Free Staters lost comparatively few. O'Connor, leader of the rebels, is reported to have been wounded before his surrender—Copyright, 1922, by Underwood & Underwood.

plete and the final defeat of the rebels is in sight, says a communique issued from general headquarters in the Beggar's Bush barracks today.

The insurgents have been driven out of their positions in Earl street. Telegraph and telephone communication have been badly crippled in some quarters by the tearing down of wires.

Fighting was still in progress in County Donegal with the irregulars making a stubborn defense of their positions against repeated assaults of the regulars.

DUBLIN, July 4.—(By the Associated Press).—The enveloping movement by the Free State forces. Thirty-two rebels were captured when the National troops rushed the Earl street positions and the Catholic club opposite the Gresham hotel.

The Young Men's Christian Association building in Sackville street, which has been occupied by insurgents, was burned during the night, after an attack by the Free Staters.

SIXTY KILLED AND TWO HUNDRED WOUNDED.

DUBLIN, July 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Since the fighting started at the Four Courts last Wednesday the number of casualties, including civilians, is estimated at more than 60 killed and 200 wounded.

An official bulletin issued this morning indicates substantial progress in suppressing the revolt in the country districts. The bulletin reads:

"In Midlands all important centers are held by National forces, including Athlone, Mullingar, Longford and Trim. In Tipperary the irregulars have been driven from their barracks and from other positions at Nenagh. In Roscrea the irregulars were forced to abandon their posts, eight men, with arms and ammunition, being captured.

"In South Tipperary, the irregulars have evacuated the Kilsheelan and Clogheen barracks. Mid-Tipperary is controlled by the National army."

PRISONERS ESCAPE BUT ARE RECAPTURED.

BELFAST, July 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Twelve men who had been arrested and sentenced to the Dundalk jail for looting were rescued from the jail early today by their comrades and taken toward Drogheda in a commandeered lorry.

Regulars and Irregulars started in pursuit a short time afterwards and overtook the twelve six miles away. They refused to halt and fired on their pursuers. The fire was returned and one prisoner was wounded. All of them eventually were recaptured and taken back to jail.

Fighting between the two Irish factions continued in Drogheda, according to messages received in Belfast, both sides using machine guns. The rails have been torn up on the railway between Drogheda and Dundalk, and there is an extensive break in the railway at Kellytown.

IRISH REBELLION REPORTED COLLAPSED.

LONDON, July 4.—Reports from Dublin here today indicated that the rebellion against the provisional government had collapsed. The Free Staters have occupied the Gresham hotel, one of the strongholds of the insurgents, according to a new despatch carried by the Press Association.

A report, unconfirmed, said that the Hammam hotel and three buildings on Sackville street had surrendered and been occupied by the Free State troops.

KATO'S LUNCHEON TO HONOR DENBY NOTABLE AFFAIR

Navy Secretary, Other Members of 1881 Class, Given Royal Welcome.

TOKYO, July 4. (By the Associated Press).—Premier Kato's luncheon here today in honor of Secretary of the Navy Denby and members of the Annapolis class of 1881, who came in on the transport Henderson for a class reunion, was a notable event. Besides the visitors and the staff of the American embassy the luncheon was attended by leading Japanese statesmen and politicians. It was one of the largest and most brilliant ever given in Japan.

Previously the visitors were entertained at the Tokyo Club, where Charles Beecher Warren, the American ambassador, toasted President Harding. The Americans attending the premier's luncheon later were hosts at dinner. In the afternoon Ambassador Warren gave the voyagers a reception, which attracted the largest number of American residents recalled at any previous function of the sort. Many Japanese also called to pay their respects.

During the intervals between entertainments Secretary Denby visited prominent Japanese and conferred with Rear Admiral Strauss, commander of the American fleet in Asiatic waters.

A downpour of rain tended to mar the opening day of the official entertainment, especially the sports arranged in Yokohama for the men of the transport Henderson and those of the destroyer Alden, on which Admiral Strauss came to accompany Secretary Denby on his tour of Eastern Japan. The women of Yokohama arranged a full week of sports and dances for the sailors. Kobe and other cities celebrated the Fourth elaborately.

LOS ANGELES, July 4. — On developing a film negative taken two months ago in Tonipah canyon, 25 miles northwest of here, B. W. Anderson found that the body of a woman lying under a tree among the undergrowth was clearly outlined in the photograph, according to his story to the police here late last night. The face of the body was intact, but the breast was badly mutilated. The photograph showed a black streak running from the mouth along the woman's face. When on the trip neither Anderson nor his friends saw the body, they told the police.

POLICE WOMAN, IN BATH SUIT, CHASES QUARRY

OCEAN PARK, Cal., July 4. — Mrs. Minnie Barton, for 17 years a member of the Los Angeles police force, maintained her reputation for never losing a prisoner, when, clad in a bathing suit, she chased May Colvert, 23, for many blocks along the beach and boulevard here.

Mrs. Barton was just emerging from a plunge when she caught sight of Miss Colvert, wanted in Los Angeles on suspicion of burglary and for alleged violation of probation.

The policewoman immediately gave chase and after a long run caught her quarry and started to the local police station with her. On her way Miss Colvert broke away. Mrs. Barton again ran after her and again caught her. That time the trip to the police station was made in a commandeered automobile. Miss Colvert was later removed to Los Angeles.

Flagpole Ball Drops And Injures Woman

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 4. — Mrs. Mireia R. De Rata was walking along K street, Sacramento's principal business thoroughfare, yesterday, when a ball fell from the flagpole on top of one of the large department stores and struck her on the head. She was rendered unconscious and was taken to a hospital, where physicians stated the blow had caused concussion of the brain.

TWINS MUCH ALIKE; BOTH SELL BOOZE?

LOS ANGELES, July 4. — Howard and Homer Fisher are twins. Both are drug clerks. Both are in jail. Both are charged with the illegal sale of liquor. "They are as much alike as two plums," said the prohibition enforcement officers who arrested them.

Man Electrocuted; Yuma Lights Go Out

BRAWLEY, July 4. — B. W. Miles, sub-station tender of the Hutton Power Company at Andrade in southeastern Imperial county, was electrocuted when he stumbled against a high voltage wire, his body carrying 13,000 volts for two hours and completely shutting off electric light and power from Yuma, Ariz. It was learned here yesterday. His death was discovered by a party sent out from Yuma to find him after attempts to telephone his station had failed.

G. A. R. PREPARE FOR GREAT MEET

DES MOINES (Ia.), July 4.—Patriotic groups throughout the country today began preparations for the great all-American convocation in Des Moines next September, in which nine patriotic organizations will assemble for the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Today has been set by the general executive committee of the encampment for the issuance of the general call to every state in the Union. The nine organizations represented in this call are: The Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, Sons of American Revolution, Ladies of the G. A. R., National Association of Union Ex-Prisoners of War, National Association of Army Nurses.

More than 75,000 of their members are expected to attend the gathering September 24 to 28.

"We must make the spirit of the '60s live after the last surviving member of the Grand Army has passed," George E. Hamilton, secretary of the general executive committee said today. "More than 25,000 blue-coated veterans and their thirty-five and drum corps will seek this year the nation's lasting impression on patriotic America."

Ex-Service Men Beg On London Streets

LONDON, July 4.—One of the most distressing sights in the city of London is the number of ex-service men begging on the streets. Former soldiers and officers, some of them with distinguished records of gallantry, have found it impossible to obtain either private or government employment, and are eking out a miserable existence by open mendicancy, peddling, grinding, hawking, singing, or giving gymnastic exhibitions in the streets. American tourists and others are openly assisted in the streets for the price of a meal or lodgings by these unhappy men.

A picture of another kind is visible in the present busy and lavish social and court centers of London. The extravagance and improvidence among the rich, American tourists and others are openly assisted in the streets for the price of a meal or lodgings by these unhappy men.

Yolo Banker Gets San Quentin Term

WOODLAND, July 3.—Floyd Tuttle, former assistant cashier of the Bank of Yolo, who confessed recently to having embezzled $41,000 during the past nine years, pleaded guilty to the charge of embezzlement before Superior Judge W. A. Anderson today. He was given an indeterminate sentence of from one to ten years in San Quentin. He will leave here Wednesday morning to begin his sentence.

Tuttle's divorced wife and his daughter were in court when sentence was pronounced. His wife procured a legal separation about thirty days ago.

"Riotous living was not responsible for my downfall," Tuttle declared, "but the system of paying used by banks throughout the state."

Indian Treaty Bowl Weighs 600 Pounds

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 4.—An Indian treaty bowl, weighing 600 pounds, and said to be the largest in existence, was found at Nimkish, 100 miles north of here.

The relic, which is said to be more than 500 years old, is 15 feet long, and, according to archaeologists, was made by Indians using stone tools and axes. The bowl, which was the center of an interesting Indian ceremony, was called by the aborigines "the Mother of the Five Tribes."

The bowl was found by a party engaged in removing a totem pole attached to the side of an old house. The relic will be placed in the Vancouver museum.

New phase of "Revelations of a Wife" starts today on the magazine page.

Political Notes

Judge Charles A. Shurtliff, was the Fourth of July speaker at the celebration of Independence Day at the Veterans' Home, Yountville. Judge Shurtliff formerly resided in Napa county.

Tuesday last Judge Shurtliff, who is a candidate to succeed himself on the supreme bench, was the guest of Oakland attorneys who met at luncheon at the Hotel Oakland. The hosts for the occasion included Mr. C. Chapman, Robert M. Fitzgerald, Arthur G. Tashert, Everett J. Brown, Peter J. Crosby, John McDonald, John U. Callins, Harry L. Price and Charles A. Beardsley.

More than one hundred persons, active in Judge Frank H. Kerrigan's campaign for associate justice of the supreme court, will meet at the hotel building Wednesday afternoon to discuss plans for his campaign in the southern part of the state.

Friends of J. Leo Kerrigan in Napa, Petaluma, Ukiah and Eureka have formed clubs to further his candidacy.

Charles G. Johnson, former state superintendent of weights and measures, delivered the Fourth of July oration at Neptune Beach, in Alameda, under the auspices of the Alameda Improvement Club. Johnson was campaigning for state treasurer in the southern part of the state, but came north for the celebration. He is a resident of Alameda county.

WOMAN, 103, DIES

RUTHERFORD, N. J., July 4.—Mrs. Anna Cathmus, Yonkers, aged 103, died at her home here, aged 103 years. She was born at Dundee, N. J., June 7, 1819. Until two years ago she was able to knit without eyeglasses.

BANDITS WOUND COUPLE; WOMAN EXPECTED TO DIE

Thugs Escape After Shooting
Sacramentans Sitting in Auto.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Two masked bandits, attacking a couple seated in an automobile here last night, shot and wounded probably fatally Mrs. Emanuel Dandrett, 28 years old, and severely wounded her husband, E. Dandrett, 36 years old, a striking Southern Pacific machinist. Dandrett tore open his assailant's cheek.

Mrs. Dandrett was shot through the left breast and cannot live, physicians said. Her husband is suffering with minor wounds.

Dandrett engaged the bandits in battle after he had been shot, tearing the masks from their faces and hitting one of the thugs over the head with a beer bottle.

The bandits finally overcame Dandrett and throwing him into the tonneau of the car where Mrs. Dandrett lay, drove the machine into the city, stopping near a clump of trees where they left the machine with orders to their victims to remain quiet. They escaped.

A sheriff's posse is searching for the highwaymen, who are believed to be responsible for a series of holdups during the last week in which several persons were slightly wounded in pistol battles.

The Dandretts were not robbed, though that apparently was the motive of the attack. In the scuffle which ensued between the bandits and Dandrett, a watch and chain worn by one of the thugs fell to the floor of the tonneau. It was found by the police, who said it had been stolen in a previous hold-up.

chairmen and secretaries of the county committees and other prominent Democrats. This will be the first such meeting to be held in two years.

Women's Waist Lines
To Return to Normal
By International News Service.
LONDON, July 4.—That woman's waist line is to return to its normal position, just above the hip, is the latest decree of Dame Fashion.

This return to nature, which has been evident at the latest French and English race meetings, is confirmed by the newest designs shown from Paris.

SCENARIO WRITER DIES.
LOS ANGELES, July 4.—George Edwards-Hall, actor and scenario writer, died at his home here after a brief illness. He is survived by a widow, Constant Brinsley Hall, also a writer, and two sons.

Marion county, Oregon, has the largest acreage of hops in the United States, 12,000.

Trusting to Luck

E. H. BURN, aged 38, of Wheeling, W. Va., who reached the most easterly city of Eastport, Maine, on his unique U. S. boundary trip. He started from Fort Kent, Maine, on the most extreme northern border, 460 miles away. He will visit cities and towns along the Atlantic on the way to Miami, Fla., then the Gulf of Mexico; San Francisco coast; completing his hike at Seattle. Burn travels 20 miles daily. Carries fifty pounds on his shoulders, including pup tent, poles, clothing, toilet articles, and sells post cards.—Underwood & Underwood photo.

CIGARETTE CAUSE OF BIG BLAZE

MARTINEZ, July 4.—Fire, started by a cigarette carelessly thrown from an automobile swept over a considerable area at the junction of the Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek roads Sunday and was extinguished only after members of the Walnut Creek fire department and forty other men fought the flames for several hours. Mrs. H. Barnquist, who resides near the junction of the roads, declared a cigarette thrown from a machine started the fire. She asserted that as the fire got under way she halted passing automobilists for aid, but all ignored her summons to help.

History of Human Race Finds True Interpreter

By E. van LIER RIBBINK.
A doctor of philosophy comes from Holland, and learns to read and write English. He learns to write it much better than most Americans. Then he is sent to Russia to report the bloodily suppressed revolution of 1905, and coming back to America, takes a job as professor of history at an Ohio university. Afterwards, by way of capping the climax, he writes, and personally illustrates the greatest book on man's origin, his past and his destiny, that was ever written anywhere.

Such, in brief, has been the American career of Willem Hendrik van Loon, now of New York, and late of Rotterdam, Holland, whose "Story of Mankind" is to appear serially in The TRIBUNE.

"Here's to you & your wonderful coffee" & This is the toast of the delighted guest who has been served a smacking good cup of M.J.B. coffee

Why?

The Quality Coffee of America

and late of Rotterdam, Holland, whose "Story of Mankind" is to appear serially in The TRIBUNE. QUALITIES AS CARTOONIST. It has been said of van Loon, in respect to his genius, which not only inspired him to write this great standard work, but also enabled him to illustrate it with most forceful pen pictures, sometimes tragic and often comic, that he is perhaps the only doctor of philosophy in the world who could get a job as a cartoonist or comic artist on a newspaper.

It has been pointed out that philosophers and doctors of that complex subject usually are serious-minded gentlemen, whose ideas of festive recreation would be to memorize a dozen or so chapters of Aristotle. But it is different with van Loon. Give him an interesting historical subject to discuss, a pencil, a piece of paper or Bristol board—even a more or less clean tablecloth has been known to suit his purpose—and van Loon is perfectly happy! When one bears this characteristic in mind, it is easy to understand how a man like van Loon, who is able to visualize the historical events he describes, as if he were an interested spectator at an elaborate stage production, has given to these historic events and personages an interpretation, by means of his deft pen-and-ink sketches, such as is denied to many a painter in oil with several feet of canvas at his disposal.

DRAWINGS ARE QUAIN. Van Loon has illustrated his book with numerous quaint little drawings, and with animated maps. Thus he shows a map of the ascent of man from jellyfish and invertebrate, touching at the wayside stations of fish, amphibian, reptiles and mammal, until at last the climax is reached by the first being that walked upright. Then there are most convincing animated maps dotted about with figures of prehistoric man, showing how mankind became distributed over the earth, and how it moved back into the "deserted plains of Europe," following the periods of glaciers and ice. The book also contains the first convincing picturized theory, showing the only possible way in which the Pyramids can have been built. Especially interesting are van Loon's sketches of the so-called Sumerian "picture-letters," drawn with a nail into bricks by the ancients, and showing how humanity first learned to write.

The many wanderings of the Jews are graphically described in a few powerful lines of the pen, giving a clearer idea of the movements of the tribes over the Sinai peninsula into the promised land, than we have ever been favored with. Then there is that wonderful map called "The Story of a Word," showing how the "mother" name originated in the Sanskrit "Mata," meaning "to make," and how it subsequently held its own in every Caucasian tongue.

REAL HISTORY OF HUMANITY. Such events as the excavation of Troy, King Priam's ancient city, from beneath its huge mound of earth; of the "Glory that was Greece," as represented by two Ionic pillars dominating the Hellenic plains; of the conflicting spheres of influence of Rome and Carthage; of "How the City of Rome Happened"; of Hannibal crossing the Alps, and the intensely interesting map demonstrating the Barbarian invasions, all help to explain why the literary world of two continents awakes by the boards of its prophets that the history of the human race has, at last, found a worthy interpreter. And it is all so simple. No intricate statistics, no attempt at abstruse philosophy, here. And no big words. Sentences of a line and a half, or of three lines at the utmost. That's where van Loon achieves his big punch!

There is his animated map, showing the main events in the struggle for American Independence. Any foreigner with but the haziest ideas of the events of the American war for freedom may take this map, study it, and read over three pages of van Loon's remarks. He will then have a better idea of the importance of this great human event than he could gather from three volumes. For that has been the trouble with most historians—that they have lost the thread of their narrative in a mass of detail, and that the reader's perspective has become so obscured that he feels himself lost in a veritable forest of words, words, words! But van Loon keeps, from Genesis to the present day, the threads of his story in his own hands, and guides his reader plainly and simply and with perfect understanding.

FORMER JUDGE IS CONVICTED OF WIFE'S MURDER

Utah Man Burned Woman to Death to Collect Insurance, Charged.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 4.—Omer R. Woods, a former probate judge in Idaho, today stands convicted of the murder of his wife, Marietta Woods, who was burned to death as she lay in bed in the Woods apartment home here last January 9. It was the contention of the prosecution in the trial that Woods killed his wife to collect $18,000 life insurance.

The superior court jury, which returned the verdict against Woods, reported its decision at 12:30 a. m. today and sentence will be passed July 11.

The jury verdict was murder in the first degree, and as there is but one penalty for that offense imposed in Utah—that of death—Woods, on July 11, will be asked to state by which method he will die, in case he makes no decision the court decides upon either hanging or shooting, the two execution methods of the state.

Testimony at the trial of Woods was of a most startling nature. Evidence brought out that the dead woman's hands and feet had been tied and her body thrown upon the oil soaked bed.

Woods defense was that his wife had been murdered by two burglars who ransacked the apartment.

In the "Cinderella" cast will be: Mona Agard, Helen Ruth Hayne, Blanche Gomme, Frances Moore, Rear Christensen, Thomas Estrat, Bernice Mullary and Jean Douglas. "Cinderella and a Tramp and a Night's Lodging" will be presented by the children of the public school orchestra, classes under the direction of Albert Humphrey.

German Baron Given Life for Treason

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
BERLIN, July 4.—Baron Leo Freytagh von Loringhoven was found guilty of high treason and sentenced to life imprisonment in Munich on the charge that he had been in constant communication with French Minister Dard in Munich and was striving for separation of South Germany from North Germany by French occupation troops. The proposed dividing line, according to the charge, was to follow the river Main.

Charities' Ward Is Killed by An Auto

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Benjamin Lugo, 26, a 13-year-old ward of the Associated Charities, was crushed to death today by an automobile truck at Thirteenth and Harrison streets. He was playing with a group of youngsters. They started across the street. The Lugo boy was the last to cross and became confused by the approach of two machines. He was struck by the truck, which was driven by Bruce Sims, 2070 Sutter street, an employee of the Guerin Cement Company.

BETTER TRAINED TEACHERS URGED

Tribune Juveniles Will Give Performance; Youngsters
Are Welcome.

BOSTON, July 4.—The fact that residents of rural communities are no longer satisfied with an education inferior to that offered to city populations, and the necessity of more and better professional training for teachers, were the central ideas voiced yesterday at the first official sessions of the National Education Association's annual meeting. At the evening session Miss Charles O. Williams, president of the association, delivered her presidential address on "The Democratic Awakening and Professional Education."

The general session was called to order in the assembly hall of Mechanics Building with more than 5000 delegates from all sections of the country present. President Williams was presented with a gavel and block, the handwork of the students at the Omaha Technical high school.

Miss Minnie J. Nielson, superintendent of public instruction of schools of North Dakota; United States Commissioner of Education John J. Tigert and Peter J. Moynihan, superintendent of Chicago schools, were among the speakers.

Trying to Save Life of Tree 800 Years Old

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—Expert horticulturists at the request of the government of Oaxaca, are trying to save the famous "Great Tree of Tule," which appears to be slowly withering away, probably from old age. The tree is believed to be 800 years old. Cortez and his soldiers slept under its branches. The tree is 175 feet high.

Trinity Sunday was definitely established in 1334.

Washington Disarming Pact May Be Extended

PARIS, July 4 (By the Associated Press).—Three projects for general disarmament were placed before the temporary mixed commission of Nations by representatives of Great Britain at the commission's opening session yesterday afternoon. Despite lengthy speech by the chairman, M. Viviani, of France to the effect that the disturbed political situation throughout Europe imposed the greatest caution on all the powers who were considering disarmament, Lord Robert Cecil declared that the league must make some definite progress toward world disarmament in the near future.

The first of the three projects, which was carefully prepared by the British admiralty, calls for extension of the obligations of the Washington armament limitation treaty to fifteen other powers who were not signatories of the Washington pact, thereby making the pact universal.

The plan, which was laid before the commission yesterday afternoon by representatives of the admiralty, has been approved in detail by the British naval experts. It is in the form of a treaty. After a short discussion it was decided to refer it to the naval section of the permanent military commission of the league.

RATIO BASIS SUGGESTED.
The second plan, proposed by Lord Esher, calls for land disarmament on a ratio basis similar to the ratio system worked out for naval reductions.

The third scheme was suggested by Lord Robert Cecil. It provides for general disarmament, naval, military and aerial, in return for which all the powers are to enter into a pact to protect each other from aggression.

Lord Robert's plan provides for a permanent military commission to be the active controlling authority, subject to approval by the council of the League of Nations. The commission would determine whether the contracting powers were complying with the agreement for reduction of armaments and whether any state's preparations constituted a menace, and, if so, what measures the other nations should take to aid the state so menaced.

These measures would be binding upon the aiding powers when approved by a three-fourths majority of the council.

PLAN IS OUTLINED.
The plan divides the world into four regions—America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Only the powers in each region would be obligated to aid a menaced nation upon the commission's recommendation, approved by the league council. The reduction of armaments would be determined in advance and constantly checked up, and if any nation exceeded the amount of armament allowed under the agreement it would be subject to suspension from the protection and to penalties provided for under article XVI of the covenant of the League of Nations. The reduction would apply to naval, military and air forces.

All members of the League of Nations, and the United States, Germany and Russia, are eligible to enter into the proposed agreement, and any of these might adhere to it only partially. The council should approve such action and if specified reductions in armaments are made.

All disputes as to the meaning and effect of the treaty, except in deciding whether armaments exceeded the amount allowed shall be submitted to the permanent court of international justice for final decision.

Ex-Service Men's Hospital Site Sought
LOS ANGELES, July 4.—Colonel Charles E. Forbes, director of the veterans' bureau, has arrived here to discuss with the Chamber of Commerce plans for the construction near Los Angeles of a $3,500,000 tubercular hospital projected by the government for ex-service men.

The plans call for a hospital with 500 beds. Colonel Forbes said about 250 acres of land would be needed as a site.

THIEVES GET WHISKEY.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 4.—More than 100 barrels of whiskey, estimated to be worth nearly $200,000 at bootleg prices, have been stolen from the Bond Brothers distillery at Lawrenceburg within the last two weeks, prohibition officers here announced. The liquor had been hidden from the barrels, officers said.

These ratios would apply only to the home forces. Each nation would be free to determine the number necessary for colonial and overseas purposes. The ratio agreement would be effective two months after being signed by all the participants and would continue for ten years.

Charities' Ward Is Killed by An Auto

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Benjamin Lugo, 26, a 13-year-old ward of the Associated Charities, was crushed to death today by an automobile truck at Thirteenth and Harrison streets. He was playing with a group of youngsters. They started across the street. The Lugo boy was the last to cross and became confused by the approach of two machines. He was struck by the truck, which was driven by Bruce Sims, 2070 Sutter street, an employee of the Guerin Cement Company.

HOMES WANTED FOR HOMELESS IN BERKELEY

Children's Society Official Makes Appeal for the City's Children.

BERKELEY, July 4.—Miss Cecil Mossbacher, children's agent of the Berkeley Welfare Society, today made an appeal for help in giving home environment to four children.

Two brothers, ages eight and eleven, both American-born and of good family, whose mother is dead and father is negligent of his duties, are now without homes. The society, which Miss Mossbacher represents, will pay $17.50 per month for the care of each child and will provide clothes and medical attention.

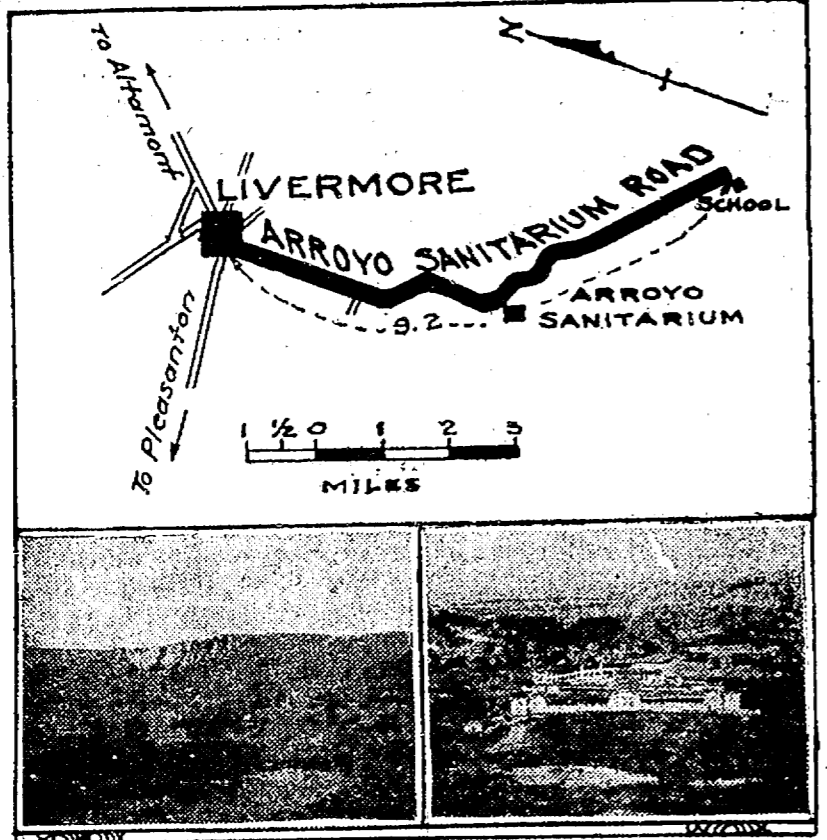

Two orphan boys of 15 years also desire country homes, where they may work in return for room, board and clothes and be allowed to continue their schooling.

"Our ideal is to place children in families rather than in institutions and thus make them an essential part of some household," explains Miss Mossbacher.

Miss Mossbacher asks that persons interested in these children communicate with her at the Berkeley Welfare Society, 2120 Grove street, telephone Berkeley 9434.

BOY DISAPPEARS.
SAN LEANDRO, July 4.—Notice has been received at the city marshal's office of this city of the disappearance of 8-year-old Walter Scott, son of Edwin F. Scott, of 156 Cambridge avenue, yesterday afternoon. The boy left his home about 2:30 p. m. and has not yet been found.

Path to Picnic Pleasures Is Arroyo Sanitarium Road

Motorists eager to get away from the crowded highways will find delightful picnic spots along the Arroyo Sanitarium Road, beyond Livermore. The country is little traveled by the holiday throngs. A glimpse of Arroyo Sanitarium, the Alameda County Tuberculosis Hospital, is shown, together with a view of Del Valle Farm, opened on Saturday as a sunshine farm for undernourished children by the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association. The two institutions are passed by this picturesque road.

"There are few roads in Alameda county which afford more easily accessible or prettier picnic spots than what is known as 'The Arroyo Sanitarium,'" asserts George Posey, county surveyor.

WOMAN SEEKING CONGRESS SEAT

COWETA, Okla., July 4.—Standing on the site where the first missionary school in the old Indian country was established, and where her mother, a teacher in that school, met her father, Miss Alice Robertson, Congress member, opened her campaign here today for the Republican nomination to represent her district. Speaking under the auspices of two fraternal orders, Miss Robertson reiterated that her only platform was "A Christian, an American and a Republican."

She opened her address with a scriptural passage, which she read from a large Bible. Miss Robertson declared she had never made and never would make a pre-election promise. She added that circumstances could easily make it impossible to keep promises honestly. The speaker defended her opposition to the cash bonus for soldiers on the ground that the nation is not financially able to carry out an extensive bonus program.

Her own war record, she asserted, was proof that she had supported "the boys."

BABY CARRIAGE FOR SIX.
LIVESTOCK, July 4.—The Lewisham Guardians have ordered a baby carriage large enough to carry six children at a time.

Posey, whose work takes him into all parts of Alameda county and over all the roads of the county, is earnestly seeking to educate Alameda county motorists to the beautiful spots of the county, most of which, he declares, lie off the main travelled roads.

"The Arroyo Sanitarium Road," said Posey, "is really one of the little travelled roads of the county. It extends from Livermore to the sanitarium and on to the Arroyo school house, a distance of about nine and one-half miles, and there is hardly a quarter of a mile of the road on which there is not to be found a delightful spot to picnic or spend the day loafing, away from the noise of the city. Thus far the road is almost entirely neglected by automobilists, and instead of having half a dozen picnic parties within sound of your voice, as is the case on most of the main roads, you will find scarcely a dozen such parties along the entire road Sunday."

"The road leads past the old Cresta Blanca winery, the property which has been purchased by the federal government for a sanitarium site for soldiers afflicted with tuberculosis, and past the big Alameda county sanitarium. Beyond Arroyo the road is in not quite such good repair as between Livermore and Arroyo, but it is possible to travel fifteen miles an hour comfortably over it. The road is different to most county roads, too, in that it is a 'blind' road, ending at the school house, but there is ample room to turn around and make your way back. The scenery along the road is delightful. Mount Diablo may be seen from several points."

Unemployment in Britain Decreasing

LONDON, July 4.—The number of persons wholly unemployed in Great Britain on June 1 was 42,657 less than in the previous week, and 352,133 less than the figures recorded at the beginning of January. Nevertheless there are still some 1,471,600 unemployed in the country.

The number working short time and drawing benefit June 1 totaled 111,000, as compared to 119,812 in the previous week and 934,876 in July, 1921. The foregoing figures are official.

ESSAY PRIZES GIVEN.
SONORA, July 4.—Alfred E. Wells of Summerville Union High School of the town of Tuolumne won first honors and Vernon S. McDonald, a student of Sonora High School, second, in the Americanization essay contest just ended. Wells was awarded $10 and McDonald $5. The prizes were given by the Tuolumne women's clubs of Tuolumne and Calaveras for the best essays on the subject named, the contest being open only to high school students.

GIRL ENDS YEAR'S VISIT.
RICHMOND, July 4.—Miss Zella Hudson, who has been visiting in Richmond for the past year at the home of her aunt, Mrs. M. L. Alderson, 100 Bissell avenue, left Friday night for her home in Williams, Arizona. Miss Hudson was the motif for a number of social affairs during the past social season.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By seeking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advertisement.

Inventor Is Out in First of Autos, 28 Years Old Today

By HORACE M. COATES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.
KOKOMO, Ind., July 4.—Twenty-eight years ago today—July 4, 1894, to be exact—Elwood Haynes, seated in a "horseless carriage" before a few wondering citizens of Kokomo traversed Pumpkintown pike in a practical demonstration of an invention which which he had worked several years to perfect.

Today Elwood Haynes, seated in that same historic automobile, the first ever to be constructed, crawled along at a veritable snail's pace on that same Pumpkintown pike, as the main attraction in a day of celebration in honor of the inventor of the automobile.

The original automobile was on display during the unveiling ceremonies. The "father of the automobile" was loaned to Kokomo for the day by officials of the Smithsonian Institute, where it is being kept as a part of the nation's collection of wonders.

It is the first time in ten years in the history of the vehicle that it has been seen in its native haunts.

MOTOR TO SANTA CRUZ.
RICHMOND, July 4.—Mrs. Annie Freeman and daughter, Monica, both from Vancouver, British Columbia, joined Mrs. Isaac Wolfe and daughter, Edith, 157 Seventeenth street, and Mrs. A. A. Higgins, Saturday, in a motor party to Santa Cruz. Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Higgins and Mrs. Freeman are sisters.

GREAT PARADE OPENS ANTIOCH 4TH FESTIVAL

Miss Lolita Stamm Is Proclaimed Goddess of Liberty at Midnight Ceremony.

ANTIOCH, July 4.—A street parade a mile and a half long, participated in by local and out-of-town commercial, fraternal and other organizations, was the opening feature of today's Fourth of July program in this city.

One of the most stirring floats in the procession was that bearing the Goddess of Liberty and her maids of honor. Miss Lolita Stamm was proclaimed as the symbol of freedom last night at midnight at a hall held at Belshaw hall.

Fred F. Heberghall, past state adjutant, American Legion, was the speaker of the day at patriotic and literary exercises held on the east of Union Hall on Third street, following the parade. Mayor L. Montagne was president of the day.

Aquatic sports, a ball game between Rio Vista and Antioch at the city ball park, corner of Tenth and C streets, motorcycle races, foot races, boxing contests and other sports featured the athletic portion of the day's program.

In the parade were the marine band from Mare Island and a company of marines and entries representative of every lodge in Antioch, as well as several from neighboring towns. The Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg was represented with a float appropriate to the day.

The "horribles" were arranged by Sam Delullo.

Two drum corps and a brass band from the Eagles lodge of the parade.

The Martinez Concert Band, which had been engaged by the American Legion, also participated. An emergency station was maintained by the Red Cross at the office of Dr. George, and an information bureau conducted at the rooms of the express company.

The arrangements for the celebration were made by the members of the American Legion.

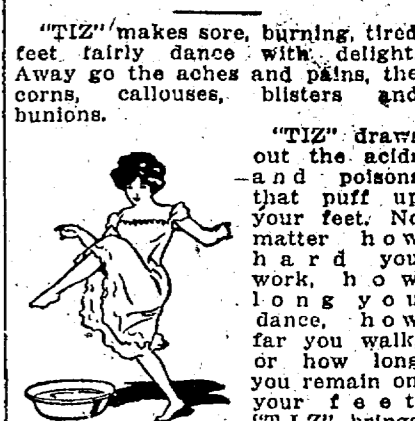

The concluding feature of the program will be a fireworks display on the waterfront tonight.

WOMEN ATTACK ACCUSED SLAYER IN COURTROOM

BERLIN, July 4.—Two women victims of Grossman, the butcher, on trial for a series of revolting murders, attacked the accused man in court today.

Courtroom attendants were forced to intervene strenuously to save Grossman's life. The women screamed that the butcher had attacked them and flew at him with hatpins and fingernails. The courtroom was closed to spectators, so horrible were the disclosures of the alleged crimes. The women witnesses told of an attack attempted upon them simultaneously by the accused. As they passed the prisoner, they suddenly drew hatpins and, scrambling over the low railing, injured him severely before attendants pulled them away.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

"TIZ" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters and bunions.

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "TIZ" brings restful foot comfort. "TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a box of "TIZ" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.—Advertisement.

HAYWARD MAN DROWNS WHILE ON FISHING TRIP

L. H. Rogers Is Swept From Rock in Sight of Two Companions.

L. H. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rogers of Hayward, was drowned off the coast of Green's Valley, San Mateo county, yesterday, in view of Dale G. Simpson, of Hayward, and W. A. Craven of Sacramento, with whom he was fishing. The party made their way some distance out upon the rocks, Rogers in the lead. A wave caught him unprepared and washed him beyond his depth. When his companions arrived at the spot no trace was seen of Rogers. A search of the coast was immediately instituted, but the body was not recovered. His wife and two young children survive.

Rogers was a real estate man of Hayward. He was identified with the Hayward Chamber of Commerce and the Odd Fellows lodge. His father, R. R. Rogers, is a pioneer druggist of Hayward. His mother is a prominent clubwoman. The family resided in Oakland for several years.

Bottomley Must Serve Sentence

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LONDON, July 4.—Horatio Bottomley, anti-American agitator and editor, must serve seven years in jail, it was ruled today by the court of appeals.

Bottomley was convicted of converting to his own use nearly $700,000 in funds he collected in behalf of patriotic and war relief societies.

His appeal from the seven-year sentence was lost today.

Bottomley, before his arrest, was editor of John Bull. In his publication he consistently assailed the United States and Americans. He launched scathing attacks on the part America played in the world war.

Betrothal Is Announced In Southland

News from the southland has revealed the betrothal of Miss Daisy Olsen, one of the charming daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Olsen, who before their departure for Los Angeles to make their home resided in Manor drive, Miss Olsen will wed Thomas Reynolds, son of Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds, a well-known family of the southern city.

Young Reynolds was graduated from Stanford University and is a prominent member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is now practicing law in the south.

Miss Olsen has been the motif for many interesting affairs since her engagement. No definite date has been set for the wedding, but it will be in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rodolph have gone on a camping trip in the high Sierras in the Placerville country and will be away for a fortnight.

The Charles Rodolphs are at Ben Lomond at the Dickinson for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Havre have gone to Tahoe for a motor trip to join friends there.

AUGUST TO BE MONTH OF WEDDING.

August 11 is the date set for the marriage of Mrs. Constance Van Brunt Lynch and Thomas Page Smith of Boston. Mrs. William R. Van Brunt of Alameda and her daughter and Master Ransom Lynch left last Sunday for the east. The wedding will be at the country home of the bridegroom-elect, not far from Boston.

WEDDING ON SUNDAY EVENING.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Sunday evening at the Eureka street home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sue Light when their daughter, Miss Beatrice Light, became the bride of Eric Beak Horrell in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. Rev. F. S. de Mattos of St. John's Episcopal church performed the marriage service, which took place beneath bower of pink and white gladioli and ferns.

The bride, who is a pretty brunette, wore a frock of white canton crepe, beaded in pearls, with which she wore a tulle veil caught with lilies of the valley, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Thelma Light attended her sister as bridesmaid. She wore green and white organdie and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Bud Horrell, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Lou Higgins.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served, the couple later leaving on a motor trip through the southern part of the state. San Francisco will be their future home.

Mr. Horrell is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amos C. Hester, pioneer residents of San Francisco. Horrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Horrell of Fruitvale.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Dexter have returned from a motor trip through Mendocino county, visiting the attractive resorts on route.

The Frederic B. Dallams are in Los Angeles, having leased their home in Vernon Heights until November. They have joined their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Joseph Harper, whose home has been in the south since their marriage.

Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn and Mrs. Leon Boqueraz, with their respective families, have left for "Villa Remi," their country place at St. Helena in Napa county.

MISS MCCONNELL IS BETROTHED.

Miss Ethel R. McConnell of Berkeley has announced her engagement to Markell C. Baer.

The announcement was made at the San Francisco home of Mrs. Arthur C. Prendergast in Westwood Park, at an afternoon of bridge Wednesday. The house was decorated in red roses and the betrothal cards cleverly concealed in bouquets of sweet peas. About twenty guests from the bay cities attended.

Miss McConnell is a popular Berkeley girl, and the daughter of Mrs. George C. McConnell of 2305 Piedmont avenue, Berkeley. During the past two years, Miss McConnell and her sister, Miss Adelaide McConnell, visited in the Hawaiian Islands, where their mother joined them last summer. Changing their plans to meet their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Oatman, in China, they returned to their Berkeley home.

The romance had its origin while Miss McConnell and Baer were classmates at the University of California. Both took an active part in college activities and are members of the Sierra Club.

Baer holds the position of deputy city attorney of Oakland, and has been prominent in the legal profession since his graduation from U. C. College of Law in 1914. For two years he served as a special secretary of the supreme court of California. He has seen active service in France in the World War.

The Clarence J. Wetmores are registered in Rome, according to the Rome Bureau, and also Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Richards of this city. The city is still crowded with distinguished visitors, besides many prominent clergy, who have been attending the Eucharistic congress at Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest

E. Erber and the Misses Nona and Adele Erber of Berkeley are at Shasta Springs.

TO LEAVE FOR GEORGIA.

Captain and Mrs. Frank Macdonald Ogden will leave soon for Georgia, where Captain Ogden, U. S. A., has been ordered to the Officers' school in that State for nine months. They have given up their quarters at Fort MacDowell.

S. F. Society Girl Dies in Shanghai

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—On the eve of her departure for San Francisco, with her three months old babe, Mrs. Herbert Jensen, popular society girl, died at her home in Shanghai, China, on Saturday.

According to a cable received yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wirtner, 2330 Vallejo street, As Miss Jean Wirtner, Mrs. Jensen was one of the sought after young women of the local smart set. During her stay in Shanghai, she was a member of the local smart set.

Her marriage was a romantic one, taking place in Japan, in 1920. Jensen is connected with the Koester Company with headquarters at present in Shanghai. No information as to the cause of her death was given in the cablegram.

Her sailing for California was arranged within a few days. Besides her parents, Mrs. Jensen is survived by three sisters. They are: Miss Doris Wirtner, Miss Harriet Wirtner and Mrs. Hubert Haven Anderson, wife of Lieutenant Anderson, U. S. N.

Oakland Club Plan For Coming Season

Preliminary plans for the new club season will be discussed tomorrow by officers and directors of the Oakland Club, who will assemble at a board meeting following a luncheon at Hotel Claymont. Department and section chairmen will be tentatively selected.

Mrs. Frederick Adams, president, will preside as chairman.

The clubhouse north of Lake Merritt is rapidly assuming definite shape and will be ready for occupancy a month following the opening of the year in September. Arrangements for furnishing and equipping the attractive new home are being rushed by the building committee, of which Mrs. E. R. Tull is chairman.

HARDING ARRIVES IN HOME TOWN, CENTENNIAL ON

Marion Is Crowded for Celebration of Own, Nation's Birthday.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MARION, O., July 4.—Back again in his old home town after 16 months in the White House, President Harding was "at home" today to all this section of Ohio at Marion's great centennial homecoming.

The President literally shook the weight of executive responsibility from his shoulders today and became for the time being a Marionite again. His cares were lost in the hundreds of neighborly greetings that were flung at him from every side as he walked along the familiar streets of his home town.

To Marion he is "W. G." first and Mr. President after that. His father's house, where he is a guest, was a mecca this morning for scores of neighbors and old friends who came to pay their respects.

CITY OVERFLOWING.

The triple combination of a national holiday, a centennial celebration and a presidential visit filled Marion today to the overflowing state it knew during the front-porch campaign. From all over Ohio and from neighboring States motors and trains poured thousands into the city.

The streets were filled early and every hour swelled the throng. Streets and buildings were gaily decorated with bunting and flags, and in the show windows of the shops were displayed thousands of relics of the Marion which Eber Baker founded one hundred years ago. A descendant of the founder, Captain Charles Eber Baker, was an honor guest.

ENTRY QUIET.

The President's entry into Marion was rather quiet. At the end of a gruelling day's motoring he slipped in just before midnight last night and went immediately to his father's residence. Many of his old friends had waited up for him, however, and the scene on the Harding lawn was reminiscent of the campaign days as they crowded around to shake hands.

A tragedy accompanied the President's arrival which caused him genuine sorrow. Captain Ed ("Bud") Masterson of the Marion police force, a friend of the President for years, was fatally hurt as the Presidential procession came up to the Harding residence. He was directing the patrolmen in the street and fell from the running board of a moving automobile, suffering a fractured skull. He died a few hours later.

RETE BEGINS AT DAWN.

Marion's celebration of the Fourth got under way this morning. At 4:30 a. m. a sunrise salute of 100 guns was fired at the fair grounds. From 9 a. m. until 2:30 p. m. there were band concerts and horsemanship events. The feature of the day's program was reserved until late in the afternoon, when

COUPLE KILLED BY FUMES FROM HOUSE GAS GRATE

Bedridden Woman Unable to Save Lives When Precipitation Known.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Had the feeble cries of Mrs. Mary Fleming been heeded yesterday morning the death of her daughter, Mrs. Alice Stockfeth, and her fiancé, John Norton, might have been averted at the Fleming home, 4 Coleridge street.

Mrs. Fleming heard the death struggle of the young couple after they had been overcome by gas fumes in the living room adjoining her chamber, but her call for help was not heard by another daughter, Miss Clair Fleming. Mrs. Fleming is bedridden.

When Miss Fleming arose early yesterday morning she discovered the bodies of her sister and Norton dead on the floor, with gas still flowing into the room from a heater. A draught of air blew out the flames in the grate and were unheeded until the couple began to suffer from its effects, the authorities declare. They were overcome before they could reach the door.

Their cries were heard by Mrs. Fleming, who was unable to go to their assistance.

Mrs. Stockfeth and Norton reached the Fleming home about 11 o'clock on the night before. Complaining of the cold, the young woman lit the gas grate. They were probably unaware when the flame was extinguished. Mrs. Stockfeth was divorced from her first husband about a year ago. She was a telephone operator and 25 years old.

Norton was a brother of Thomas Norton, member of the San Francisco police department.

Rail Worker Shot On His Way Home

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—While returning home from his work at the Mission Bay roundhouse of the Southern Pacific, Mark Marzola, 430 Folsom street, was shot in the right arm.

Marzola, who is an electrician and who is not participating in the strike of railroad shop workers, was being taken to his home in a company car when the shot was fired at Howard near Eighteenth street. He was taken to the Southern Pacific hospital for treatment, and said he did not see who fired the shot.

BOY MURDERERS ON TRIAL. BERLIN, July 1.—Two boy murderers are on trial here. One, 13, killed his cousin. The other, aged 15, choked a fellow errand boy to death.

President Harding, General John J. Pershing and Brigadier-General Charles G. Dawes will speak from the same platform to an audience of thousands.

What's Happen in the Motor World

by Jim McLaughlin

W. A. (Bill) Daley, manager of the Moreland Truck Company in Oakland, is passing out the cigars today to the boys. He is the proud daddy of a seven-pound boy which arrived at the Daley home yesterday. Daley points out that the new addition to the family makes him the happiest man in the world. Both Mrs. Daley and the baby are doing nicely.

Veteran's Funeral Set for Tomorrow

The funeral of David M. Briggs, Christian Science practitioner, will take place tomorrow under the auspices of Annapolis Post 4 Grand Army of the Republic. His death occurred yesterday at the family home, 924 East Fourteenth street. Briggs was born in Ohio, coming to this state in 1874. He was 78 years old.

His widow, Mrs. Mary A. Briggs, three sons and a daughter survive. They are: Edward, Herbert P. and Cyrus Briggs, and Mrs. J. F. Hostawser.

JOSEPHUS SCANDALIZED. GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 4.—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, tonight characterized the sale of liquors on United States Shipping Board vessels as "scandalous." Daniels is on his way to Wallula, N. D., where he will address a Chautauqua tomorrow.

A DELIGHTFUL BRUNSWICK STYLE 207--$125

No music-loving home can buy more wisely than in selecting this Style 207 Brunswick. It is all, musically, that could be asked; all, mechanically, that could be hoped for, and more, in beauty of appearance and finish, than could be expected at its moderate cost.

Then, being Brunswick, it has the great advantage of playing the records of all artists—no matter by whom or what machine made—and playing them at their very best. We will send it prepaid anywhere in California on this plan: Brunswick, Style 207.....$125 Records of your choice.....10

WILL HAYS GETS A RISE.

Will H. Hays, in what he has said in justification of the drastic rules that have been established for the regulation of the film industry, has got a rise from a quarter that could hardly have been expected.

In one of his promulgations he compared the activities of the moving picture world to those of the historical gold rush to California, and those who stand at the head of it and have to answer for it—like himself—to the Forty-niners, "seeking to establish rules and systematize things, like the Forty-niners did, for the general good."

The Forty-niners came among Hispanic people, and the parallel is taken by the editor of La Prensa as a reflection on them. It seems to be considered the keynote to the general attitude toward Spanish-Americans—assuming that Forty-niners had to resort to summary methods to preserve order in early California. From it the editor goes on to definite complaint. He cites an instance where in a film picture, a Spanish countess of "ancient Spanish nobility," a duke and other characters, were represented, "the whole invented by somebody who has not the faintest knowledge of either the Spanish nobility or the Mexican people." All the roles of Americans represent heroes, and the Hispanics, if women, are idiots; if men, "masses, robbers, savages, brutes and slaveless curs." One of the men of high station thrashes a woman, and so on.

There may be those to say that perhaps the defender of Hispanos has an argument. Has it not been the custom to think slightly of these people, and did the Argonauts show much regard for them? The picture complained of is supposed to have depicted early California scenes; and who has heard Argonauts refer with much respect to the people whom they encountered in the great onrush?

But that is not entirely the point. What may be the point here are the things that have to be considered in the great task of guiding the movies. It is not all skittles and beer—lolling in an office chair and ordering Roscoe Arbuckle to lay off from his garden-hose drama. The commander-in-chief has to consider a race people, and to walk carefully and avoid treading on the greatest array of cosmopolitan toes to be found in any country.

No boosting effort ever gained more commendation that that recently inaugurated to gain attention to the merits of Northern California. It was comprehensively stated and launched in a manner to appeal to that large constituency that must realize that their section has not been exploited to the extent of its merits. The fact was tactfully set forth of other sections enjoying great advantage through well conceived publicity, and that there is unsurpassed opportunity here for similar advantage if a similar spirit can be brought into play. The effort begun by the newspapers ought to be seconded by every class of citizens, when what is Northern California's due will be realized.

"Granstedt girl weeps at hearing." The Granstedt girl, 14 years old, is the one who is charged with shooting Harold Galloway, aged 17, at San Jose. Judicial cognizance of the case is now being taken. It is a bad affair all around. It would seem to be unfortunate that the infant could not have been bundled off to some institution where a scientific investigation as to her mentality could have been made, all publicity in the meantime being suppressed. As it is, much mawkish sympathy is likely to be aroused, and whatever congenital taint exists is apt to be confirmed by the general attention that has been attracted to the case.

Those who feel that age isn't "in it" with youth as to such matters as choosing "queens" in beauty contests should cheer up. The news from Liege is especially calculated to hearten all who thus despair. Madame Pirard, aged 80, in the annual event in that city, was elected "queen of queens." There is no hint as to manipulation of ballots. It seemed to have been regular in every particular, with a full turnout at the polls. Elections this year all are full of surprises.

THE BRAZILIAN CENTENARY.

The Pacific Coast, perhaps more than any other section, is interested in Brazil's forthcoming exposition which is to commemorate a century of that country's independence, and will open in September. That will be Springtime in the Southern Hemisphere—a fact that we may take account of in passing.

This nation set the fashion of holding expositions to commemorate the initial century of national independence. That at Philadelphia in 1876 was the first ever held from such an inspiration. Other American countries are following the example. Mexico's turn also comes this year, but Mexico is finding its energies sufficiently taxed to merely keep along, let alone celebrating for anything.

In this connection it is remembered that Brazil's last Emperor, the gentle Dom Pedro, passed through this bay region on his way to visit our centennial affair forty-six years ago. For fifty-four years after gaining its independence Brazil functioned as a monarchy on its own account. Its transition to a republic was a bloodless revolution and occurred soon after this country celebrated her first hundred years.

Brazil is a great country in acres and as well as resources. The latter have scarcely been touched. Her exposition will do much in directing world attention to her vast expanses and natural riches, and to the field there for investment and the exercise of that energy that, in such countries as this, is so ready to engage in developing the riches of a virgin country.

Brazil's exports and imports nearly balance; but 41 per cent of the former come to the United States, mostly in coffee and rubber. Its imports were various, but a big item is automobiles. These are statistics that may be properly taken account of in considering reasons for our interest in that country.

The United States are to be fitly represented at this exposition. We are to have displays of our industries and products; and the neighborly interest that has been manifest—the desire to get on the best understanding otherwise than commercially—will go a long way to dispel that aloofness that has characterized the attitude of South Americans in their relations with this country.

The announcement that Governor Stephens is to stand for re-election is official, but not exactly news. There has been no doubt of it for several months, and it has been openly discussed as foregone longer than that. In this connection it might be pointed out that formal announcement of candidacies is frequently delayed as a defense against campaign workers and grafters, who swarm around a declared candidate to sell campaign service and solicit "contributions," and that they may not be sidestepped so readily after the bat is in the ring. Before that the fact may be pointed out that decision has not been finally made.

After all that was said and understood about excess rainfall for the year it now appears that it was two inches below normal. There is this to be said about rainfalls, however: Their importance is not to be determined by the rain gauge. An excessive precipitation may not be as potent in producing growths as a lesser one that is more judiciously distributed. The present season is below normal, yet there have been few in later times that made the unirrigated districts more fruitful, or replenished the water sources more copiously.

THE LINGERING "DRIVE" HABIT.

Drives to get money for charitable purposes came in for some hard knocks at the recent convention of officers of the poor at Atlantic City. The president of the association, Harry L. Barck, was particularly severe in condemnation of the practice, and much that he said will be heartily endorsed by citizens long ago wearied of many forms of begging in the streets and in places of public resort.

The drive reached its greatest development in the war. Then it was eminently proper. Everything to help win the war or to add to the comfort of our service men in the field or in camp deservedly met a cordial response. The amounts of money distributed by the hands of generous Americans were prodigious. That some of it went for purposes for which it was not intended was well known. But nobody was in a capricious mood.

DAILY ALMANAC

Tuesday, July 4.
Ordinance prohibiting fireworks precludes snappy stuff in this column, this date, 1922. . . . Jefferson, Adams and Monroe died this day. . . . Work on Erie canal started, 1817. . . . Fourth day of wartime prohibition. . . . Our favorite bootlegger raided. . . . Hell bath no fury like a dry squad. . . . Cornerstone of Washington Monument laid, 1848. . . . Fireworks at the lake, this night. . . . Loving couples will do well to avoid the glare. . . . Today's best quotation: "Work is the curse of the drinking classes."

John T. McCutcheon explains in his Almanac the prevalence of traffic accidents: "Life is forever thinking ahead and looking backward."

Moonsline.
The girl he thought he married
Met the man she thought he'd be;
Nearth the summer moon they turned,
Where the road winds to the sea.
Her hand in his, they wandered
While the starry sky spread its smile,
And their wreck of life was pondered,
Sighing deeply all the while.
Bright Luna shed a sparkling light
Of silver on her fair young head;
"O thus you were when first we met!"
He murmured; and, "You, too," she said.

Thus beauty-mantled through the night
They cooed and drowsed until, forsooth,
The sun sent forth its rays of light
And faced them with the awful truth.
"All night with facts we parried,
'Twas the sun that set us free!"
Cried the girl he thought he married
To the man she thought he'd be.

The Toonerville Trolley.
Sir:
Isn't it true, that old bromide?
Someone is always eliminating the joy from our earthly existence. Now it's a new skipper. Remember the trouble we had breaking in the other skipper, how he went around a curve too fast and caused Mr. Jenks to spill the hooch, how he passed up the angular Mr. Angles, and later engaged in an electric race with the same individual? Well, it's the same story all over again. This new fellow absolutely persists on running on time. More than that, he keeps his w. k. glimmers also-bloomin'-lutely glued to the tracks. Therefore it was bound to happen that the angular Mr. Angle was bound to miss the Toonerville this morning. He was ambling along, the skipper didn't tottle, and there was no quorum present at the matutinal meeting of the neighbors.
—W. S.

More man is easy and one may hedge a lot when he asks a question. With woman it is different. She demands a yes or a no. It doesn't make much difference which, as long as one is explicit.

Philosophy is the secret chamber of the heart to which one may retire when beset by a swarm of cold facts.

Post-Nursery Rhyme.
Sing a song of shyness,
Pocket full of rye;
Four and twenty probris
Watching you go by.

What with the Berkeley roosters, the Oakland cats and the people who are making a noise about suppressing 'em, you can't sleep these days.

After some desolate days, lonesome days, days without light, there comes a letter from Shoes. It is almost an Almanac by itself, and is printed here as the old feller wrote it:

Dear Archie:
(At a car window).
There's snubbrush here and splat-tered rock,
'Tis desolate and level—
The engine toots—a jackrabbit
Goes running like the devil.

It was 110 in Othello, which town has in it, quite opportunely, 'ot and o hell.

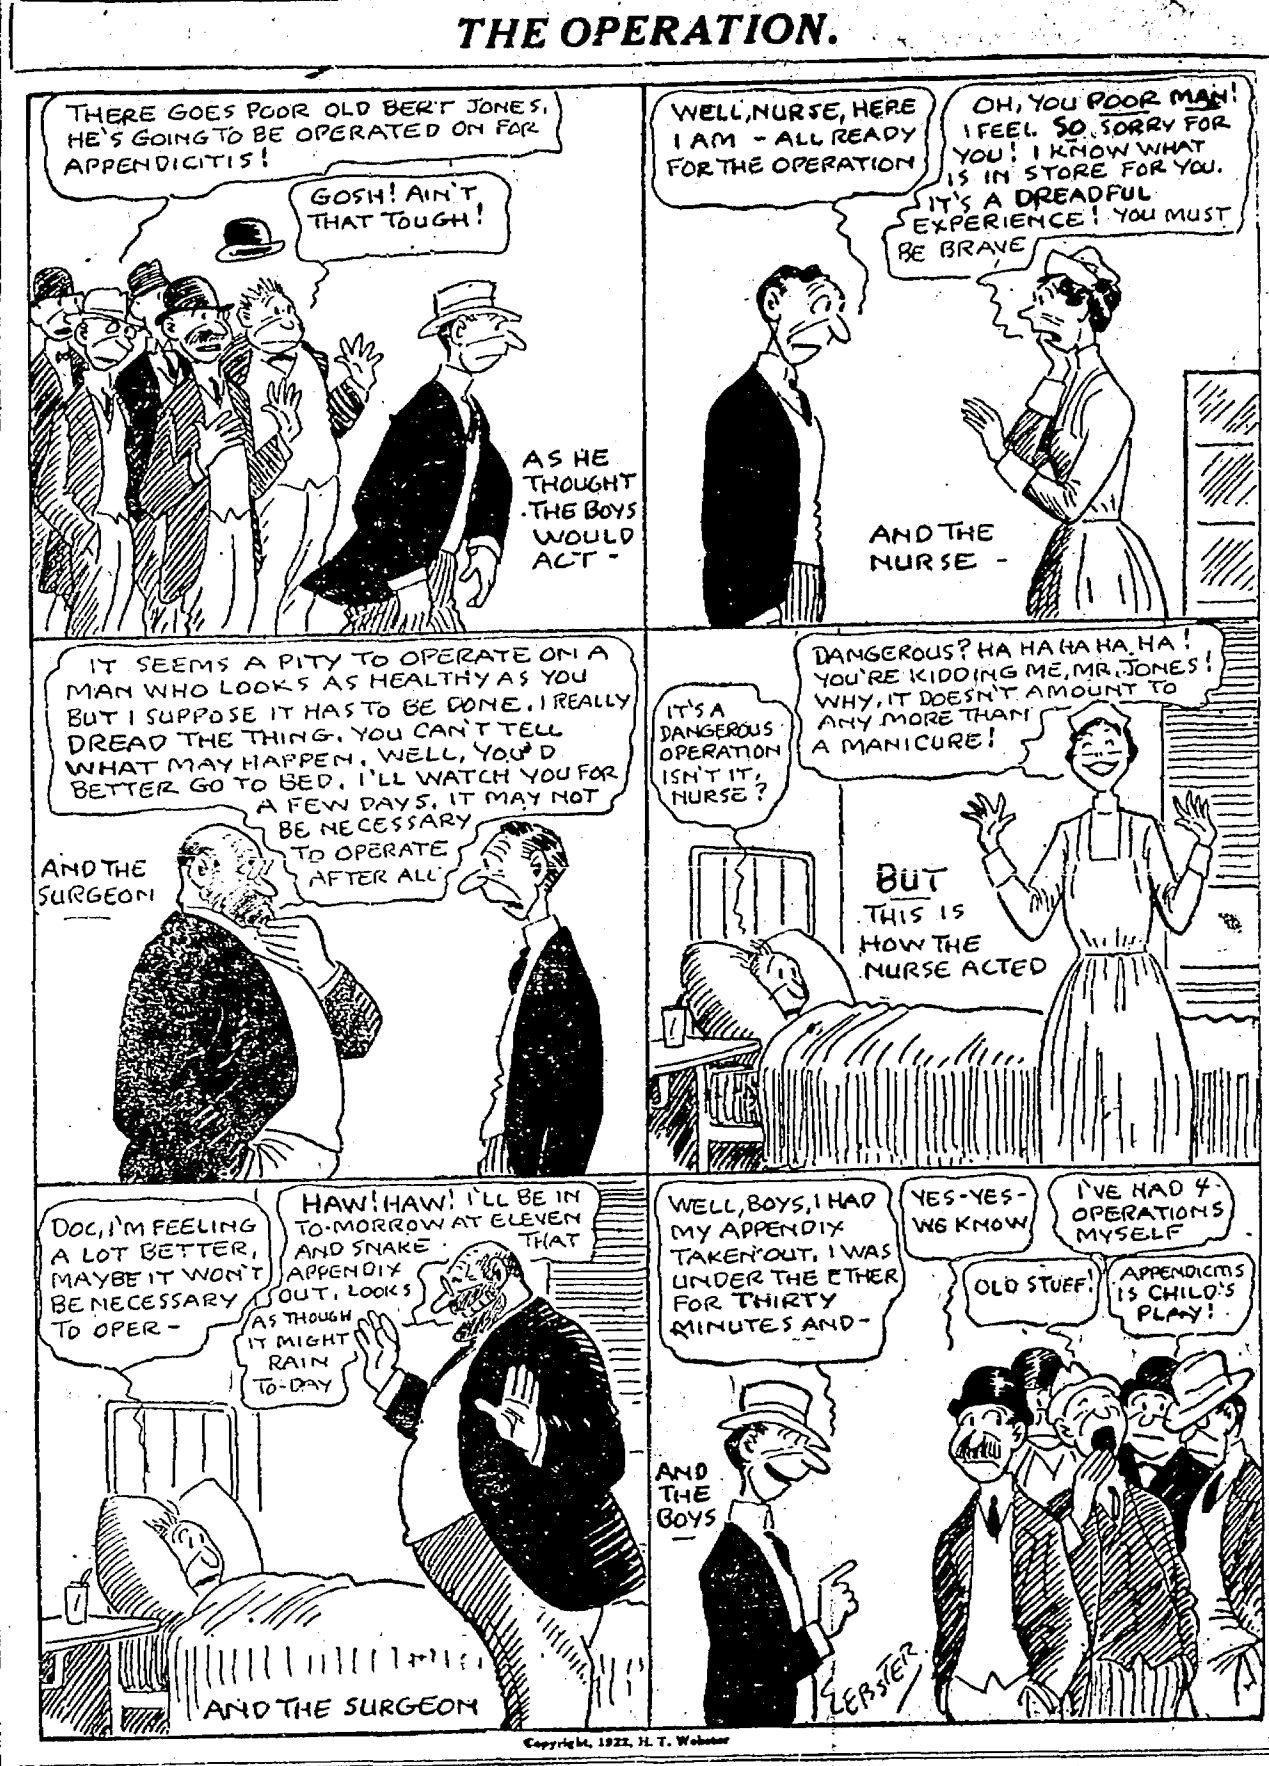

The scenery are grand hope you are the same.

One week from today he'll be back on the job and won't feel quite so flippant. We are sending him a telegram to this effect—striking a sorta cheer-up note in the sad symphony of his vacation.

"Why" Oakland lays no claim to Byron's quill pen or Longfellow's shoes, but he is a mighty good space-filler. He sends in this, without title or compromise:

If you want to learn to write,
'Tis this that you do;
If you think that I'm not right,
I'll leave it up to you:

Just write
Then write
Then write
And write
And write
And write
And write
And write
The thing that impresses us most is that "Why" Oakland knows what he is talking about and is his own best proof of it.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Christian Science Monitor mentions about Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. writing a book detailing the experiences of a cub reporter sympathetic with the grievance of Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. in his book, "The Personal Experiences of a Cub Reporter," against the "heartless copywriter." This individual, Mr. Vanderbilt, cuts out all the "fine writing" from the reporter's story and boils down a three-column story to half a stick. Mr. Vanderbilt has, however, taken full advantage of the opportunity of being an author to escape the eagle eye of the copywriter for once.

Chicago Tribune: "George J. Gould's residence at Fifth avenue and Sixty-seventh street, scene of many a brilliant social function in the past, has been placed on the market. The price set is $1,250,000. It is a six-story house, and, when built, cost Mr. Gould $1,000,000, including the furnishings, but not the price of the ground. It replaced the old home of Jacob H. Schiff, purchased by Mr. Gould in 1892."

New York Sun on the representation of Mr. Marcellon: "Another optimistic observer of developments in the Far East is Mr. Isaac P. Marcellon. Returning from a journalistic tour, he is convinced that Japan (as regards her foreign policies) is undergoing a decided change of heart. The empire is making a right-about-face, turning away from aggressive measures toward the continent in favor of peace penetration, he says."

The Washington Post epitomizes the vacation season: "These are the days when the people who live in the mountains go down and rent the houses of those who live near the sea who have gone to rent houses in the mountains."

SPIRIT OF STATE PRESS

A commendable policy is inaugurated in holding public exercises to celebrate the opening of the fire lookout station on Mt. Rialawski in the Santa Cruz mountains. Financial assistance in this work was rendered the State by San Mateo, Santa Clara and San Joaquin counties, the California Redwood Park Commission and the State Highway Commission.—Livermore Herald.

The operation of fruit and vegetable canneries is distinctively a home and family industry. The town lot, the acre tracts, the farm and the city grow the raw materials and the cannery further employs women, children and men. No industry distributes so much ready money among the people.—San Leandro Reporter.

A "cyclone" at Taft has been found guilty of leading kleagles and others on a raid in which a physician is said to have been abused. Other goblins, cyclones, kleagles and heel-kickers ought to be taken warning that the law has decided to try all cases itself and that outside interferences are sure to lead to jail sentences.—Hanford Sentinel.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Physical Examinations Ought to Precede Marriage

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Yesterday there came to my office a handsome young man. He had snapping black eyes, perfect teeth and a broad smile. He was as winsome a young chap as I have met in a long time.

What do you think he wanted?

He said that he is soon to be married to a lovely girl. Before taking the final step he desired to have a thorough physical examination and a test of his secretion and blood.

"I want to know that I am offering this fine young woman the kind of husband she deserves," he said. Isn't this commendable?

He is doing voluntarily what will be required of every prospective bride and groom in the days to come.

If such an examination were submitted to by every young couple many marriages would be postponed. Some of them would never take place.

It isn't fair for a young man who has an incurable disease to take to wife a charming young woman who must soon be left a widow. No man should take this step till he is certain he is a good risk.

We learned a lot about the health of our young men when ten million were examined in the selective draft. Too many were found to be below par.

Without a good heart, perfect health is impossible. Fortunately, most heart disturbances are functional. This means there is no actual disease or defect in the heart, but its action is defective in some way. There are remote or general causes for such disturbances. When these exciting causes are removed the heart returns to normal action.

If there is serious valvular trouble we are dealing with a different condition. This is a thing to be discovered by a careful examination.

Some persons have organic disease of the kidneys, and do not suspect it. The most sensible thing in the world is to have regular physical examinations. Such a test should be made every few years in youth, and at least once a year after the beginning of middle-age. Certainly, if you have never had such an examination you should have it before marriage. It may reveal Bright's disease or diabetes. You will wish to be healed before assuming the responsibilities of family life.

More important than all the rest is to make sure that the blood is clean and absolutely free from taint. The blood that courses through your body may contain elements of disease which might be transmitted to your bride and later to your children. You are too square to take any chance of this. To avoid this danger there should be made an examination of your blood.

It is just as important—in some respects more important—that the prospective bride should make sure she is free from the taint of disease. She does not care to become a helpless invalid to be waited on by a husband, no matter how loving he may be.

I am proud of the young man who came to the health department for the examination. He should be but one of thousands in every city in the land who will seek the same assurance of good health.

Happiness depends on freedom from physical pain. There must be good digestion, free breathing, strong heart action and perfect function of the bodily organs. There must be a sound brain in a sound body.

Let every marriage be founded on healthy bodies, the result of clean lives, and there has been the finest sort of a beginning.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Many years ago a prominent personage injected galeity into a presidential campaign by declaring the tariff to be a local issue. A contemporary calls it domestic and national. Signor Rilet styles it international. Local, national, international. Name the canny crossover who says it's all three.—Worcester Telegram.

DAMPNESS VARIOUS.

Whether or not this summer is "wet in every sense," as a correspondent claims, depends a good deal on locality and circumstances. Undoubtedly there are local showers of all kinds.—Boston Transcript.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Oakland celebrated the Fourth of July today with a big parade and other features. Professor Henry Morse Stephens delivered an oration.

Professor Fernow, in his recent talk on "Effects of Forest Devastation" at the summer session of the State University, referred at length to California conditions.

If P. Mackie of the Senior class at the University of California, has been appointed to a position with a steamship company in Panama.

The new creamery and pickle factory, Hayward's new industrial acquisitions, are reported to be in a flourishing condition.

AN ABSURDITY OF THE LAW.

A rather peculiar phase of a State law has been stumbled upon by the State Supreme court in a recent case. Joe Sousa was convicted in the Alameda court for attempted robbery. It appears that the law is that when a person is convicted of an attempt to commit a felony the sentence must be had to one-half what it would be had he completed the crime.

In this case the sentence for robbery is from one year to life. So the court sentenced the man to imprisonment from one-half a year to half a lifetime, and left it to the State Prison board to fix half a lifetime. On the appeal the sentence was set aside.—Calaveras Prospect.

AN ORGY OF BLUNDERS.

Of the making of mixed metaphors there is no end. An Oriental editor recently received a letter containing the following gems: The writer said that the country wants a peace "where the lion of aristocracy will walk hand in hand with the floodgates of autocracy." That "if the non-cooperators had hearts in their stomachs they would put their shoulders to the wheel," and "What we want to know in India is to know where the shoe pinches and that can only be done by never wearing your shoes till you have walked in them a day or two. It is by such cautious measures that we can avoid failure."—Boston Transcript.

THE HERO OF THE YEAR.

The shillee man of the Year, Charles Coghill, who held back the German army by opening the sluice of Niagara, thus flooding the plains and barring the Calais road to the invaders, has just died at his home in Furnes, Belgium. His feat was performed under heavy shellfire; his courage was rewarded with many coveted decorations, and his name will be sung in the history of the war as long as men remember its amazing incidents.—New York Herald.

"RED" SMITH OF VERNON IS NOW P. C. L. SWAT KING

MARIOTT, BROWN, LA FAYETTE OF OAKS HITTING IN SELECT CLASS; COOPER SHOWING SPEED

OAKS HAVE ALL BUT ONE REGULAR WITH AVERAGE OVER .275

Claude Cooper Is Best Base Stealer and Second Best in Most Trips to the Plate.

"Red" Smith, third sacker for the Vernon Tigers is the new hitting king of the Pacific Coast League. For the first time in a long while a San Francisco Seal is not claiming the honor. Jimmy O'Connell, Seal outfielder, who held the crown last week, slipped a few points, while Smith bettered his average by one. However, Smith is not by himself in fighting O'Connell for the crown, as Duffy Lewis and Paul Strand of the Salt Lake Bees and Sammy Hale of the Portland Beavers are right up there. Smith nicked the Salt Lake pitchers for twelve safe hits last week.

Bill Mariott, Don Brown and Frenchy Lafayette are the Oakland regulars batting better than .300, and Claude Cooper is just as good as at that mark with .299. Denny Willie is coming along fast and he is up to .293. With the boys showing their hitting strength again, and the pitchers going good, the Oaks figure to go along nicely for awhile.

Art Koehler is the only Oakland regular batting below the .275 mark, and Art promises to be up in the select society pretty soon. Mariott, Brown, Lafayette, Cooper and Willie all bettered the .275 mark, while Koehler and Cather took tumbles.

Claude Cooper continues to show his speed on the sacks and he now has twenty-five stolen bases to his credit. He also made a triple on Saturday. The Salt Lake Bees, in the race for scoring the most runs, Schick is leading in that respect with seventy-eight after his name, while Cooper has seventy-three and is second. Jimmy O'Connell of the Seals is second best in base steals with twenty-two, and Brown of the Oaks is next with nineteen.

My Favorite Stories by IRVIN S. COBB

The Limit of Helplessness

Only too often does the average after-dinner speaker reach a point where he has nothing to say and yet feels that he must say it. Usually he does, too, at great length. I know, because in my time, before I reformed, I was addicted to the vice of after-dinner speaking myself.

To those offenders who still persist in their wicked ways of trying to be humorous to order across the dinner table, without having the proper materials in stock, I respectfully would recommend the following highly illustrative little anecdote:

A New England husbandman was driving up a steep hill with a load of provender and gardening implements in his motor truck. In a rough place on the grade the tail-gate shipped from its catches and, item by item, the cargo spilled out. The farmer steered along oblivious of his losses. He reached the crest of the hill, coasted down into the valley, and there, in a miry place, he stuck fast. He climbed down from his seat, and then, for the first time realizing the full depth of his misfortune, he exclaimed to himself:

"Stuck, go! darn it! Stuck in the mud—and nothin' to unload!"

Uncle Wiggly Stories by HOWARD K. GARDIS

"ARE you going, Uncle Wiggly? Are you going?" bleated Billie Wagtail, the boy goat, one morning, as he ran past the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman.

"Well, you might call it going," slowly answered Mr. Longears as he looked back toward his bungalow, where Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy sat on the steps peeling carrots to make a straw-berry long cake. "I am going away from home for a little while, to look for an adventure, if that is what you mean, Billie."

"No, I didn't mean that, exactly," explained the goat boy. "I asked if you were going to the baseball game. I'm going to be the pitcher."

"Well, don't get so full of water that it runs out of your ears!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "Don't be that kind of a pitcher, Billie."

"Oh, I won't!" laughed Billie. "You know what I mean. I'm going to be the pitcher to throw the ball so the other fellows can hit it."

"Yes, yes! I understand!" laughed Uncle Wiggly.

"Well, don't you want to come to the ball game with me?" went on Billie. "It'll be lots of fun."

"Yes," agreed the bunny gentleman. "I might go. Perhaps I shall have an adventure."

So Uncle Wiggly and the boy goat started off together over the fields and through the woods toward the place where the ball game was to be played.

All of a sudden, as Billie was walking along, now and then tossing up into the air the ball he carried—all of a sudden the ball slipped from Billie's hoof and rolled over into the bushes.

"Lost ball!" cried Uncle Wiggly, who used to play the game when he was a younger rabbit.

"I'll find it!" bleated Billie, and down into the thick tangle of grass and bushes the goat boy thrust his nose.

All of a sudden Billie gave a loud cry and leaped out of the bushes, rubbing his face.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, I'm burned!" answered Billie. "Something burned me on the end of my nose when I stuck my head down in the bushes to look for the ball. Oh, how I burn!"

"Burn?" How could you burn?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"There isn't a bonfire anywhere near here."

"But I'm burned, I tell you!" declared Billie. "My nose is all hot! Maybe somebody left a firecracker after the Fourth of July—I mean some real boys or girls, for we animal children didn't have any fireworks, except lightning bugs."

"It couldn't have been a firecracker, Billie," spoke Uncle

"No poison ivy will I rubble!" he howled.

Wiggly. "I didn't hear it make a bang noise."

"Well, something burned my nose," went on poor Billie. "If it wasn't a firecracker it was a torpedo or a piece of punk or—or something."

"I'll take a look," said Uncle Wiggly, and when he did so, very carefully, he moved back from the bushes and said:

"I see what it was that burned you, Billie. It was poison ivy. There's a large clump of it in there where your ball dropped. Did you get it?"

"I got the ball, yes," answered Billie, "and I got the poison ivy, too, on the end of my nose. Oh, how it burns!"

"Come over here with me, to the edge of the brook," called Uncle Wiggly to the goat boy. "Here grows a weed, called the jewel plant, for the yellow flowers of it hang from the stems like jeweled earrings in a lady's ears. I'll crush out some juice from the stems of the jewel weed and that will soon stop the burn of the poison ivy."

And it did, I'm glad to tell you, Billie was saying how glad he was that he hadn't been burned by a firecracker or Roman candle, and he was sniffing the least little bit as Uncle Wiggly put the juice of the jewel weed on his burned nose, when, all of a sudden, out from the bushes jumped the bad Bob Cat.

"Ahi! ha!" howled the Bob Cat. "I've caught you now! Both of you! Oh, what fine ear nibbles I shall have!"

"Oh, please don't nibble my ears!" begged Uncle Wiggly. "Go nibble the poison ivy's ears, if you like, but not mine." Thus he spoke, hoping the Bob Cat might burn his tongue on the ivy and would have to run away. But the Bob Cat was too smart for that.

"No poison ivy will I nibble!" he howled. "I'll nibble Billie's!"

"Oh, no! No you shall not!" bleated the goat boy. "Play ball!" he suddenly cried. With that he threw his baseball as hard as he could, hitting the Bob Cat on his nose.

"Oh, wow!" howled the bad chap, as he ran away.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Billie. "Now your nose burns as mine did, though mine is all better. Thank you, Uncle Wiggly." Then Billie found his ball, after having hit the Bob Cat with it, and the goat boy and bunny went to the game and had a good time. But ever after that Billie was careful about poison ivy, as I hope you will be. Watch out for its three-pointed leaves.

"Ever keep a diary, Weary?" "What's that?" "A record of wot a feller does." "Naw! Do cops attend ter dat."

Dedbroke (roused by his wife)—What's that you say, a burglar? Mrs. Dedbroke—Yes. Fancy a burglar calling on us! Dedbroke—Let him climb in; then I'll give him a yell and it may make him drop something he has stolen elsewhere.

"Who is the wisest man mentioned in the Scriptures?" asked a teacher of one of her Sunday school class. "Paul," exclaimed the little fellow, confidently. "Oh, no, Johnny; Paul was a very good man, but Solomon is mentioned as the wisest man." "Well, my father says Paul was the wisest man, because he never married, and I think my father ought to know."

FIRE-CRACKER FACTS.

A SPECIAL FOURTH OF JULY FILM

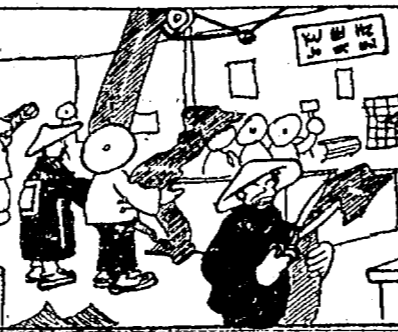

FIRE CRACKERS, LIKE BOILER FACTORIES AND POLITICIANS MAKE A LOT OF NOISE. THE MORE NOISE A FIRE CRACKER MAKES, THE BETTER IT FULFILLS ITS BRIEF MISSION ON EARTH.

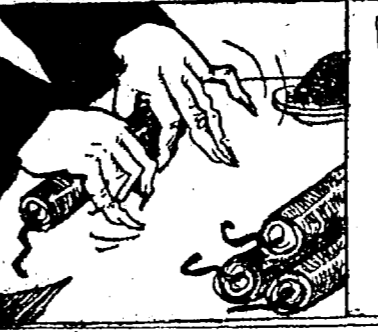

FIRE-CRACKERS WERE FIRST MADE IN CHINA, DURING THE BING DYNASTY AND WERE USED TO SCARE AWAY EVIL SPIRITS. IN OUR OWN GREAT COUNTRY, HOWEVER, THEY ARE USED TO SUMMON PATRIOTIC SPIRITS AND TO SCARE DOGS, CATS, NEIGHBORS AND SUCH THINGS.

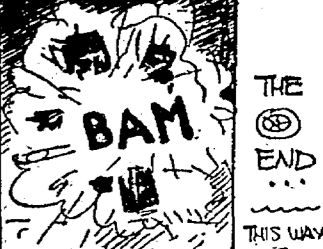

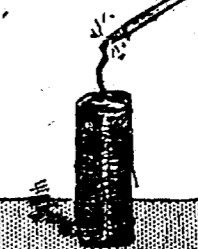

A RED PAPER FACTORY IN GO-BANG, CHINA. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT LESS THAN 3,647,722 1/2 BUSHELS OF RED PAPER ARE USED ANNUALLY IN THE MANUFACTURE OF RED FIRE-CRACKER WRAPPINGS ALONE.

LIKE CIGARS AND TOMALES, FIRE-CRACKERS ARE ABSOLUTELY HAND-ROLLED.

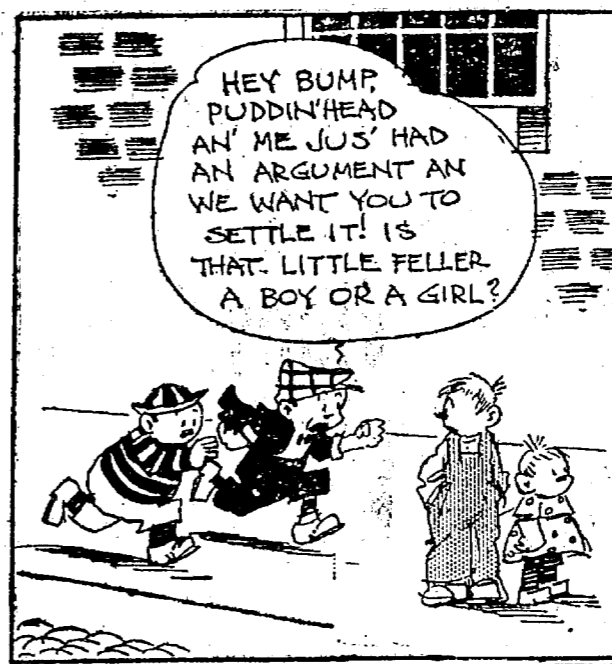

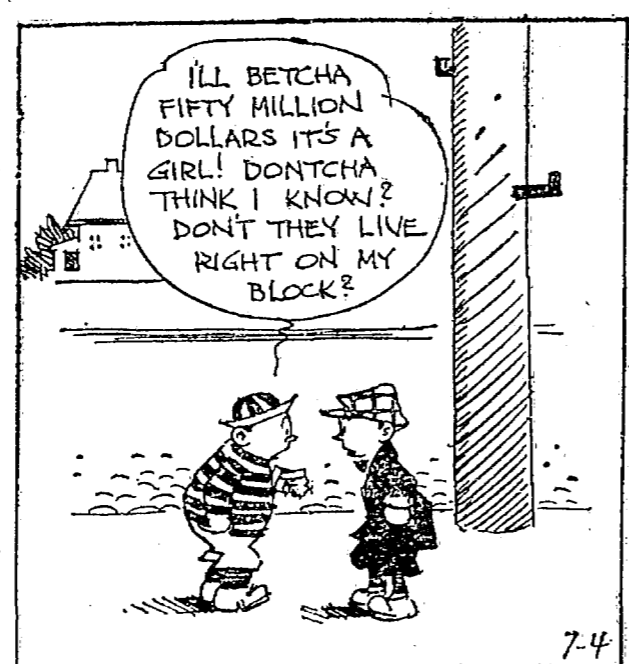

AND HERE WE SEE THE FINISHED PRODUCT—THAT IS, IT WILL BE FINISHED WHEN IT GOES OFF.

UPWARD SWING IN CROP EXPECTED THIS SEASON

Reports From Growing Sections Indicate That Yield Will Be Heavy.

The coming crop of dates will be plentiful and of excellent quality, according to advices reaching this city from Basrah, Mesopotamia, center of the district from which come most of the dates imported into the United States. Consumption of date has greatly increased here in recent years, due to the fact that the date is eaten all year and is no longer confined to the holiday season. The first of the new crop dates will reach this country until the fall.

The Valley Fruit Growers' Association of Fresno, has adopted a wage scale at 35c an hour for fruit picking, 50c a day for packing, cutting, etc. 60c for 50-pound boxes. This is a small decline under last year's, but not so much as the 10c a day for seedling fruit. The 10c a day for seedling fruit is now 10c a day for 100 to 200 trays to 2 1/2 for 500 or more. Muscats will cost 10c a tray for 100 to 150 trays, and 6 cents for 100 to 200 trays.

Future green grapes of the Zinfandel variety are offered by California shippers in New York at $1.50 a ton for 100 cars. The bulk of the crop is not expected to reach until August 10 open a letter of credit in full for the total of the purchase. The charge is $2.50 a car for their services.

Georgia went into commercial cantaloupe growing this season on a large scale, planting 7500 acres against 1500 acres last year. The estimated output is 3750 cars of 350 standard crates each, compared to 800 cars in 1921. Disappointing results on cotton caused a switch from cantaloupes and so far the returns from the northern markets have been very light. Cantaloupes in New York car after car has been refused by receivers last week because of freight charges of 10c a crate which could not be secured.

The labor situation is largely a local question, some districts reporting sufficient and others a shortage, but at the present time the supply is equal to the demand. Beans are in good condition although the hot weather has caused some wilting in some districts. The wire worm is reported in the San Fernando Valley and in the Central Valley, in Orange County. Cotton shows good color and uniform stand, and while the crop is little late the condition of the crop is improving.
